

Cancer survivors do the hustle: celebrate living

More than 500 people attended the National Cancer Survivors Day on Sunday at Sypris Park sponsored by Blue Ridge HealthCare and the Cancer Center at Valdese Hospital. The attendees enjoyed a free picnic-style lunch and entertainment provided by the Disco Six dancers. WBTV anchor Molly Grantham graciously signed autographs and posed for photos throughout the afternoon. "A lot of people said this was the best one yet," said Jan Hollar, Cancer Care Coordinator at Blue Ridge HealthCare and coordinator of the event. "We thought attendance may be down due to higher gas prices but we had a great turnout."

PHOTOS BY TIM SMITH | BLUE RIDGE HEALTHCARE

National Cancer Survivors Day • June 1, 2008